The meeting of the Business Men's league will be held at the Commercial club at eight o'clock Wednesday night. Many matters of interest are scheduled for discussion. The committee making a housing survey probably will make its report at this meeting.

The seal on a freight car, standing at Front and State streets, was found broken Sunday night by Officers Victor and White, and $400 worth of flour removed. Whether thieves took the flour, or whether the carelessness of owners is responsible for leaving the car unlocked, was not known to police Monday. No flour had been reported stolen.

Police were acting upon suspicions of C. M. Pickens, 1693 North Fourth street, Monday, in the search for the persons who late Sunday night broke into his warehouse near Highland station, and stole 25 sacks of wheat. According to Mr. Pickens there were 52 sacks of wheat stored there. Some of which entrance apparently was gained to the warehouse directly suspicion to business associates, Mr. Pickens told police.

Mrs. Lillian Jeffries Petri, noted Portland pianist will be in Salem every Monday to give piano lessons. Mrs. Petri has appeared in concert all over the continent and has been received both in Europe and the states as a musician of rare ability. She won a great deal of favor with Salem audiences during her appearance at the state fair this year.

Once upon a time he registered from Lakeview and represented Lake county in the state senate. He also bore the officious title of president of that body. Now W. Lair Thompson merely inscribes "Portland" after his signature on the hotel register when he visits, as he did yesterday, in the capital city. While here Mr. Thompson, who is now a prominent attorney in the metropolis, was domiciled at the Marion.

The Salem Kings Products company is known all over the western hemisphere, at least all over that part of the western hemisphere where the Saturday Evening Post is read. As the publication claims an authentic circulation of some odd million weekly, it is obvious that the company's circle of friends is wide and variegated. Mason Wittenburg, who is responsible in a great measure for the success of the firm, was in Salem yesterday looking after some commercial interests and visiting with friends and business acquaintances.

Accompanying Dr. Landrick who is in the city lecturing before enthusiastic audiences, L. R. Mignerey is passing a few days in the capital city. Mr. Mignerey writes Westerville, Ohio, after his name in a characteristic "buck-eye" scrawl on the registers of the hotels he happens to visit in the course of his travels. The book at the Marion was flouting it yesterday.

The municipal labor bureau Monday morning placed four new corners in John's Salem. Two men were given positions at the Hunt Brothers Packing company plant, and two were employed at the Peary brothers plants. The men, who came to this city from Portland and Seattle, said that due to strikes in those cities laborers are virtually forced to fight for positions.

A 15 cent rise per sack in flour in Salem is predicted within the next few days. With the announcement in Portland that flour raises 60 cents a barrel today, a rise of at least 15 cents a sack here in a few days is held inevitable by local dealers. This will make three rises in the price of flour in this city during the past three weeks. The offer of dealers of from 30 to 40 per cent above the government regulated prices is held the cause of the retail boom.

Dr. Carl G. Doney returned Saturday evening from a two days' visit at Big Gap ranch, near Fife, where he called on Bill Brown, a trustee of Willamette and a big sheep and stock owner of central Oregon. To reach the ranch Mr. Doney took a 120 mile stage trip from Bend. While on the ranch he farmed much as a soldier both as to rations and quarters. Brown has 15,000 sheep and 7000 horses, and a force of thirty men under him. President Doney said that it was much like a trip to the trenches and he was glad to come back to civilization again.

Emil Eckerlin, Mt. Angel Resident, Dies Here Sunday

Emil Eckerlin, 75, a resident of Mt. Angel, died Sunday evening at the Salem hospital, following a short illness there. The body was taken in charge by Webb & Clough, undertakers, and will be shipped to relatives in Mt. Angel this evening. So far as known, Mr. Eckerlin has no relatives in this city.

Portland, Ore.—Ralph Hughes was on his way to his sweetheart with a box of candy when arrested for forgery. But the girl got the candy. Hughes persuaded the cop to deliver it.

Steward Company Contracts Entire Output Of New Plant

The Steward Food Products company that recently came to Salem and is now awaiting the arrival of machinery for the new plant at Chemeketa and Commercial streets, Saturday entered into contract with C. Pettigill and A. Lewis, sales agents, for the entire output of the new plant. Mr. Steward, president of the company, said that this will mean eventually receipts of approximately $50,000 monthly for the products.

The increasing demand for the novel products made by the Steward Food Products company, at its plants in Tacoma, will explain why the output of the proposed plant here has been so readily contracted for.
